Southwest Tennessee Community College is an AA/EEO employer and does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability or age in its program and activities. The following person has been designated to handle inquiries regarding the non-discrimination policies: Executive Director of Human Resources and Affirmative Action, 737 Union Avenue, Memphis, TN 38103, (901) 333-5760.
The following are Southwest Tennessee Community College’s guidelines and criteria for documentation and certification of learning disabilities:

Southwest requires that each student have the appropriate diagnostician conduct tests and offer recommendations in order to qualify for reasonable accommodations.

In order for a student to receive learning disabled status and qualify for reasonable accommodations, the college requires, at a minimum, the following recent (less than three years old) psychological test data (Note: A high school IEP is not a substitute for a psychological report):

- An individual intelligence test score (e.g., WAIS-R FSIQ)
- A measurement of cognitive processing (e.g., Woodcock-Johnson cognitive scores)
- Achievement test data (e.g., Woodcock-Johnson achievement scores)
- A DSM-IV diagnosis on axes I and II
- An evaluation of ability to function in a demanding college environment which requires independent social functioning

A diagnosis cannot be accurately made without such data. Difference in scores between the IQ and processing and/or achievement standard scores should be more than 1.5 standard deviations, as generally recognized in the American Adult Educational System.

In addition, your provider must also document any specific weakness or disability area and specify an accommodation that would remedy the problem area.

It is the responsibility of the diagnostician to document the student’s disability area (e.g., short-term memory processing problem or lack of organizational skills) and specify what actions Southwest should take to allow the student the opportunity to pass the course (e.g., extended test time or note-taking).
